All Port Arthur Pays Tribute to a Favorite Son

THROGS ATTEND CRAIG FUNERAL

Cortege Is Largest in City's History

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSE

Huge Banks of Flowers Cover Banker's Casket

All Port Arthur paid final honors to a favorite son this afternoon.

Traffic on streets was hushed to a minimum. Stores and business houses throughout the city were closed. Procter street, usually busy thoroughfare, lent silence to Port Arthur's tribute. Just a few blocks away, in the parental home through which his voice had sounded from young childhood, George T. Craig lay dead and a huge bank of flowers tribute by a legion of grieving friends.

Hundreds of Port Arthurians gathered at the residence of the young banker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Craig, 3352 Lake Shore Drive, long before one o'clock this afternoon, the hour for the funeral services.

Within the halls and rooms of the home in overflow from the bank about the casket was a profusion of flowers.

Over the hush and sadness softly intoned the comforting words of the burial service by Rev. John Kilduff, Jr., pastor of St. George's Episcopal church, who, with Rev. V. A. Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated at the funeral services.

The peace that passes all understanding, to keep the grief-stricken hearts and mind, and a brief tribute to the life of young Craig closed the services at the home.

Friends Tenderly Bear Casket

Tenderly the casket was borne up by close friends of Craig, and he passed for the last time through the portals of his boyhood home, to the waiting hearse just outside. Followed by heart-broken relatives and sorrowing friends, the cortege moved slowly away for Magnolia cemetery, Beaumont, where burial was to be made under the direction of J. E. Grammer, undertaker.

Business houses and professional offices all over Port Arthur closed this afternoon out of respect to the memory of one of the city's most prominent and popular young business men.

Officials and directors of the banks of this city, of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, the Boy Scout Council, and school and fraternal organizations, all friends and associates of Craig, joined in this mark of respect to Craig's memory.

Here Since 1897

George T. Craig came to Port Arthur in 1897 with his parents, when George M. Craig, his father, was manager of the Port Arthur Tonsite company. A few years later George T. Craig entered the public schools of Port Arthur, graduating from the high school here, and continuing his education in college at Andover, Mass., and the University of Virginia.

For the past 12 years Craig was associated with banking institutions in Port Arthur, and at the time of his death was active vice-president of the Merchants National bank, which his father organized here and heads. He also was a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, chairman of the fresh water committee of this organization, and last year served as first vice-president. WANTED: 4000 MORE SIGNERS!

Duff Line Petition Fails For Lack of Support

Signatures to the Duff railway petition to be presented to the Interstate Commerce commission on behalf of the city asking the termination of the line be placed here despite the protest filed by the Kansas City Southern railway are about four thousand short of what is needed, according to A. L. Burgo, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping.

That the petitions will be kept up as long as possible with the hope of securing the needed signatures is the plan of the committee in charge of circulating them. Manager Burgo has been approximately three thousand names to the petition already turned in. A minimum of 10,000 signatures is the goal.

Stoops to Pick Up Dime Is Killed By Own Gun

By United Press. SAN ANTONIO, June 4.—Stooping to pick up a dime that had fallen from his pocket as he was undressing, D. E. Kelly dropped his pistol, which was discharged, the bullet passing through his body and mortally wounding him. Kelly is a special policeman on duty at a cafe, and had returned to his room at the Gunter Hotel, when the accident happened.

Lame and Halt Press Close As 'Miracle Man' Here Asks Divine Cure of Affliction

CROWDS which taxed its capacity, overflowed and placed standing room at a premium around the church where several hundred automobiles were parked saw and heard Rev. J. C. Sinclair, Assembly of God church "Miracle Man," last night.

The small frame edifice at Thirteenth and Vicksburg, unknown to now by the majority of Port Arthur people, has sprung suddenly into prominence following claims by its pastor that the ill and afflicted, for whom he prays while laying on of hands, are on the way to recovery.

A girl who is deaf and whose voice is dumb, Rev. Sinclair said, will speak and hear again. Meantime she smiles, in apparent hope and faith that this shall be, but her voice continues stifled and sound beats in rain against her eardrums.

Like a scene from the Old Testament except for its modern setting and costumes was that at the church last night.

The aged, the afflicted, the lame pressed forward and filled the front rows before the little altar. Hundreds of curious craned necks to watch.

Though the church is situated in a lowland not easily accessible, at least two thousand people are estimated to have witnessed the demonstration last night. Scores pressed their faces against the windows. Others filled the doors. Still others occupied automobiles.

The large crowd waited the miracle. Scores of the night before remained to pray in apparent new-born hope.

A sudden hush prevailed over the assembly. Rev. J. C. Sinclair, face uplifted and eyes nearly closed, stretched out his arms in voiceless appeal for silence. A moment of silent prayer.

Then:

"Before God I am only a humble mouthpiece of his, seeking no earthly reward and having such an indelible faith in Him, I trust to the extent I believe His power in a measure comes down upon me," said the healer.

In a prelude the pastor declared that many of Christ's disciples went forth healing and casting out devils.

"This was by faith and as long as they had faith the followers of Christ could do these miracles. When their faith failed them they were helpless. Why can not we, as followers of Christ, today exhibit as great faith as these early followers and be able to heal the afflicted also?" he asked.

A man and woman responded to the pastor's appeal for the afflicted to come forward. Several others seemed about to rise from their seats, only to remain where they were. In their eyes was hope and expectancy. It might be that on another night, they, too, will come forward. Faith not yet was theirs.

Aged, his face that of a prophet of ancient times, the old man told his story. For fourteen years he had suffered from a chronic affliction. Falteringly his voice breaking he told his story. Then came the woman, who, he said, was suffering from head noises, even so she could not sleep and her days were misery.

The healer cried out to Divine Power to "Smite these afflictions." Others joined in prayers for surcease of their pains and recovery. Aged women and men, young people and small children filled the altar space where the two were standing. Voices were raised in supplication. Several bent upon their breasts. HERCULES TO DREDGE HERE

New Craft Comes From Frisco Via Canal

Clearing San Francisco for Port Arthur within the past few days, the dredge Hercules, of the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Dredging company, is bound for this port to replace the dredge Washington on the canal deepening and widening work below the Texas Company terminals, according to word received in Port Arthur today.

The Washington was destroyed by fire following an explosion aboard on the night of May 10, and is now lying in a ship in the harbor here pending insurance adjustments. It is reported.

Arrives Late in June

The dredge was working on Section 2 of the project to give Port Arthur a 20-foot channel to the Gulf when the accident occurred, and since that time no other dredge has been available to take its place. It is estimated that the Hercules will reach Port Arthur about the latter part of this month.

Maintenance dredging on the ship channel from the mouth of the Neches river to the Sabine river and Orange is scheduled to start Thursday when the government dredge Kibbie will sail from Crowley's Point to Light No. 2 in the Orange canal and work toward Orange, S. W. Clarke, government engineer in charge of the Sabine district, said today.

35,000 Cubic Yards Dredged

The work on the Orange channel at this time is not a part of the project to give the port a 20-foot channel, but merely a routine maintenance job, Clarke said. The dredge Kibbie, going on this maintenance work, recently completed a fill behind the Beaumont docks, and the Gulf Refining company's dredge No. 7 is now working in Beaumont harbor, cutting off the east end of Harbor Island, the government engineer said.

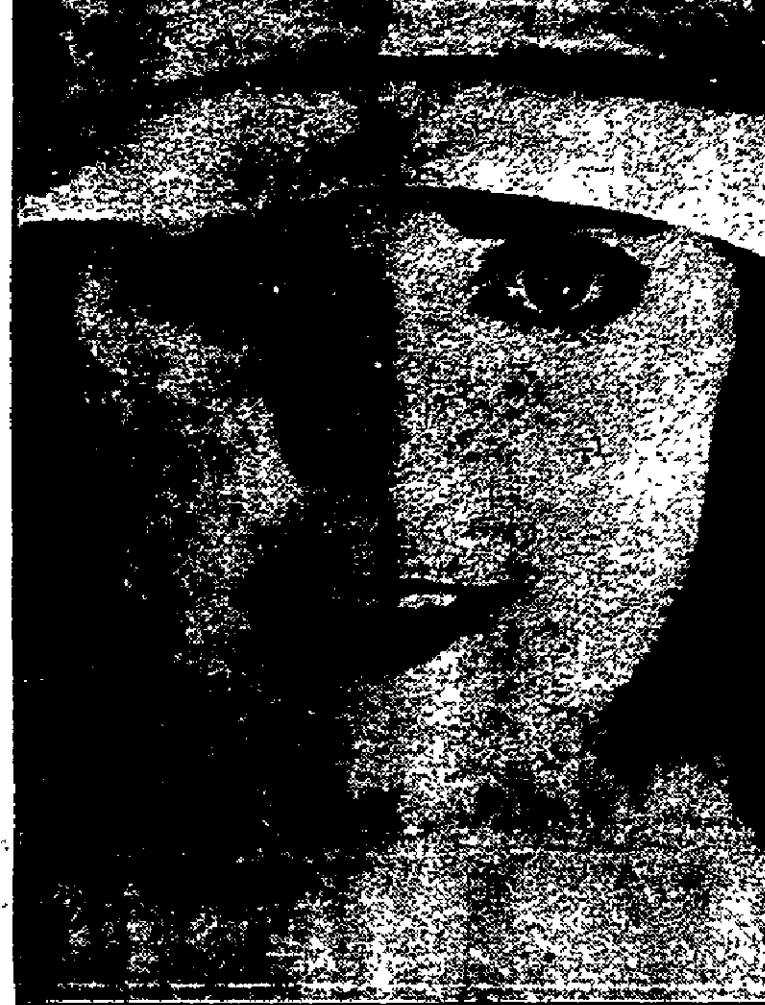

About 35,000 cubic yards were dredged out of west turning basin in Port Arthur harbor, by the dredge Blackwater, last month, the engineer representing about 12 per cent of the entire job, estimated at 275,000 cubic yards of dredging to give the basin a 20-foot depth, Clarke said.

DAUGHERTY DEFIES U. S. SENATE PROBERS

By United Press. WASHINGTON, June 4.—Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, today refused to appear before the senate investigating committee on the ground it was without authority to conduct the investigation.

Daugherty's refusal to appear before the committee, read by Paul H. Howland, his attorney.

MARY ANDERSON

RALEY GIVEN SUSPENSION

Jury Returns Verdict in 30 Minutes

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 4.—Frank Railey, 20-year-old boy who shot and killed George W. Lucas was given a 5-year suspended sentence Tuesday afternoon in 55th district court here.

Railey shot and killed Lucas on May 18 at a house located at 1014 College street. Lucas had been living with Mrs. Mary Spurgeon, sister of Railey and until a few minutes before the killing Railey believed Lucas and his sister to be married. Lucas, according to Railey's story, attacked him with an ice pick and later with a wrench which Railey believed to be a pistol. He stated that he shot in self defense.

The trouble arose over Lucas' treatment of Mrs. Mary Spurgeon. Railey claimed. Mrs. Spurgeon was not pleased on the stand, however, although she was an eye witness to the entire affair.

The jury was out on the case about 30 minutes. One of the jurymen shook hands with attorneys for the Railey boy, following the completion of the case. Judge George O'Brien called the boy to the stand and urged him to be careful of his associates and his actions in the future.

Dainty Screen Star Brings Sunshine And Roses to Hospital Ill

Mary Anderson Captivates Port Arthur Hearts—Will Pilot Trolley From Refinery at 5

A bit of California sunshine poured out its light in words of illness and suffering at Mary Gates hospital this morning.

Mary Anderson, dainty, dimpled Hollywood screen star, arrived filled with roses, stepped from her big blue car at the hospital at 9:30 and for an hour brought cheer to the lives of those waiting for recovery.

"I am so sorry," she sympathized to each, "and I hope you will soon be well."

A big rose, petals damp with dew like tears of sympathy, was left with each patient.

Leaves Trail of Hearts

Miss Anderson in her visit to Port Arthur institutions and tour of the city today left a trail of bleeding hearts. Young boys and girls, to whom she is a favorite person, turned to her for advice and comfort.

At noon today Miss Anderson was the guest of Texas company officials at the terminal cafeteria.

Yesterday she visited the Day Nursery, telling stories and entertaining the children, with whom she made a big hit. One little girl insisted upon leaving with her. Miss Anderson, who recently lost her little niece, squeezed the little tot and the niece, who was a real, not a rubber, one, and pointed her out to their friends.

To Drive Trolley Car

Street car passengers at 5 o'clock this evening will see the first sight of its kind in Port Arthur.

Miss Anderson will pilot a crowded street car to the end of its run, starting at the refinery. She will be the first of her sex at the control of a Port Arthur trolley.

From her large wardrobe Miss Anderson today selected a white, shiny gown which accentuated her daintiness. Shod in white slippers, and white hose, she presented a charming picture. A small white hat held back and curls in captivity.

A twin group of freckles on her nose gave Miss Anderson a reginal look.

The interview pressed an admiration for them for which he was (Turn to Page 6, Column 2)

HIS CHARACTER ATTACKED, SAYS

Claims Freeing of Brother Makes It Unnecessary

WITHDRAWS COUNSEL

Brookhart Says Daugherty 'Not Honest Man'

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Branding the senate investigation as a "desperate attempt to blacken his character and without legal validity," former Attorney General Daugherty in a letter to the committee today flatly refused to appear in person before it to answer charges made against his conduct of the department of justice.

Withdrawing Counsel

Daugherty moreover withdrew his counsel from attendance at the hearings. He described the committee as antagonistic to him. And said the court which freed his brother, Nat Daugherty, from responding to the committee, order to appear, made it unnecessary for him to do so or be represented by counsel.

Wheeler Indictment 'Frame-Up'

Following the reading of Daugherty's letter, Howland and Chamberlain walked out of the committee room.

"If Daugherty was a honest man he would come here and explain these charges instead of going into court, instead of attacking the committee and having Senator Wheeler indicted on a framed-up charge," said Chairman Brookhart.

Tarponia Is 'Calipred' By Geodetic Survey

Position of the Tarponia, club ship of the Port Arthur Tarpon club, has been determined recently by a coast and geodetic survey party, according to officials reports to Henry Matire, U. S. weather bureau observer in Port Arthur.

The club ship, lying about three-fourths of a mile from the west jetty in a position 324 miles, 170 degrees, from Sabine Pass light house in latitude 29 degrees 45 minutes, 169 seconds north, longitude 95 degrees 30 minutes, 30 seconds west.

"As this ship has the appearance of a vessel at anchor, mariners approaching Sabine Pass should keep well offshore to avoid grounding on the reef and the whole party is right," the report states, with the word that it is probable the Tarponia is so deeply embedded in the mud that its position will change only with the most severe storms, which would drive it further ashore.

400 Autoists Marooned In Floods Near Houston

By United Press. HOUSTON, June 4.—Four hundred tourists are still marooned in Houston due to unfavorable conditions following recent heavy rains. The meeting will be entirely an entertainment and social affair and no business will be attended to. Matire says, special music and refreshments will be two of the features.

MUSCLE SHOALS TEST IS NEXT

Senate Caucus in Move To Adjourn June 7

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Congress today settled down to dispose of a few contentious issues, postponed necessary appropriation bills and then scattered to the country Saturday night.

The senate having concurred in the house resolution to adjourn at 7 p. m. June 7, during the next four days probably engage in a test vote on the Muscle Shoals question, take up the $150,000,000 naval construction bill, pass one or two supply bills and dispose of whatever the house has on its program.

The house has on its program only an appropriation bill for the department of the interior, which may be attached as a "rider" to the appropriation bill and the possible adoption of a substitute farm bill, which farm bloc leaders are believed to have agreed on to replace the defeated McNary-Haugen bill.

The La Follette group in the senate, though defeated in their move to hold commissions in session during the summer to act on its program of progressive legislation will not filibuster to gain time for their measures in the last four days of the year.

PORT ARTHUR PASSES - DAY WITHOUT ARREST

Port Arthurians were all good yesterday—so good in fact that the police blotter for June 3 looks like the sheet of a song.

The words "No Not One" written diagonally across the page indicate that no arrests had been made for one whole day which is quite unusual, according to A. Ensky, police desk sergeant.

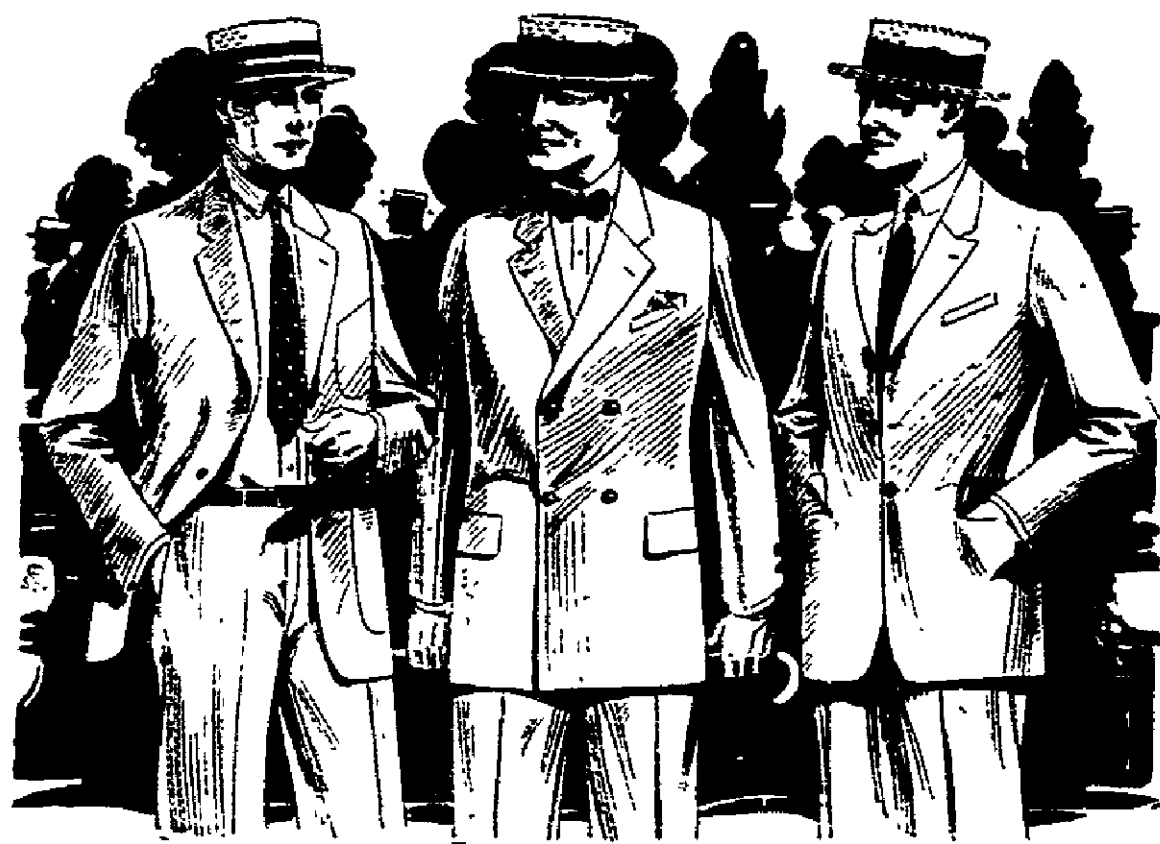

The song words which grace the blotter, have taken the place of the usual list of names which are accustomed to appear opposite the charges against those who have been arrested during the day and night.

WILSON DEMOCRATS ARE BOOMING DAVID F. HOUSTON FOR PRESIDENT

"Now you are talking. Why don't more people get behind him? Houston is the best qualified man we have."

Three days before Woodrow Wilson's illness, Charles R. Crane, former minister to China and a stalwart Wilson democrat, visited Washington and paid his respects to his former chief.

As the interview was nearing its end the former president turned to the subject of the coming election and it was then that he announced David F. Houston as his choice for the presidential nomination.

Now Crane has sent letters to all delegates to the Madison Square Garden convention urging them to take David F. Houston as their second choice if they can not support him from the start.

According to Chicago advices, numerous Wilson democrats are falling behind the boom for Houston, who held the portfolio of the Department of Agriculture and the Treasury under Wilson.

"Houston is the best qualified man we have," is the slogan of many Illinois democrats, and a Houston boom in that state was launched recently by Louis G. Stevenson, son of the late A. E. Stevenson who was vice president during Grover Cleveland's second term as president.

According to another prominent democrat high in the councils of the party the leading Wilson men of the country favor John W. Davis of West Virginia for president and Thomas J. Walsh of Montana for vice president.

All this may lead to more talk but the delegates who will sit in the Madison Square Garden Convention will make the ticket or rather their leaders will make the ticket for them.

MISSOURI DEMOCRAT QUILTS

Representative Henry L. Jost, democrat who hails from Kansas City, Mo., declines to be a candidate for reelection. He is serving his first term. He had no opposition for re-nomination but has said that he had no desire longer to remain a member of a body that was influenced only by expediency and whose action on measures showed an utter disregard for the public welfare.

He denounced domination of congress by blocs and the enactment of socialist legislation and added that he would be glad to yield his place to some democrat who would assist in reclaiming the political sanity of the nation.

There appears to be Missouri Democrats who do not care to hold office with bloc rule ever uppermost and democratic principles and traditions tossed into the ditch.

CARTER GLASS

According to the New York Times, Carter Glass, United States senator from Virginia, will be the reserve candidate of the Meadood forces in the democratic national convention and an effort to swing Meadood forces in the democratic national convention and an effort to swing Meadood delegates to Glass probably will be made if the attempt to nominate Meadood fails.

Virginia democrats have instructed their delegates to vote for Carter Glass for president but the senator declared for Meadood months ago.

All this happened before at San Francisco. Carter Glass was the favorite son of Virginia and a Meadood shouter. Virginia delegates voted for Glass but they declined to go to Meadood. Now where will the Virginia delegates land this year?

GOLDEN RULE NASH

Golden Rule Arthur Nash of Ohio divided $600,000 stock among his employees to avoid getting too rich. About 4,000 employees will share in the distribution. He found he was on the way to become a millionaire and he gave his great stock dividend in his company to his workers. He runs his great tailoring plant along golden rule lines. All that he did was to stipulate that control of the company would remain in his hands for five years after which it would be turned over to the workers. Dr. Traprock as a Mountaineer

"It was in the early summer of 1911," said my friend Traprock,

"that I went through an experience which, as far as I know, is unique in the annals of mountain climbing.

Europe at that time was on the brink of war. I was attached to the United States Embassy in Paris. My diplomatic labors had been arduous and exhausting. Seeking the chance for a week's vacation, I dashed off to Switzerland for a few days mountain climbing.

"Before starting my climb up the Little Alps, I arranged with my host to have a helicopter sent to be flashed to me by means of mirrors in case of need. I did not dare to be completely out of touch with the Limbass.

"I started my climb at dusk, taking advantage of the nightly freeze-ing. Two nights were required for the ascent. The last night's climb was a terrific test of courage and endurance. Years of experience at this sort of thing now stood me in good stead. I was also thankful that in my young manhood I had valuable training in withstanding great altitudes as an employee in one of the large window-washing companies of

New York City.

"Armed with my alpine ax and rope, I picked my way about the great gathering of a number of es-quise snow-capped peaks, which, by the way, are now a part of the permanent collection in Paris.

"Then, glancing toward the valley,

I suddenly perceived that my friend below was signalling frantically. The signals were clear and sharp, and from ten miles away I learned the overwhelming news, the world was at war."

"To start down now was certain death. But start I must. My chief would be lost without me. At that moment I noted a mighty ledge of snow and ice that was beginning to creak and groan as if in pain. An avalanche was in the making!

"In a flash I decided to go with it.

It seemed as if my added weight was all that was needed to start things, for at the exact moment I gained the top of the mass, we were on our way.

Talk about your toboggan slides!

Down as far as the timber line the going was good, but after that the trip became one of the most precautious I have ever undertaken. I was constantly dodging pine-trees and boulders. The avalanche began to wear off so that my fear became not that I wouldn't last, but that the snow wouldn't. But at last we reached the lower levels and I slid into interlocked on a cake of ice just big enough to hold me.

"I caught the night train to Paris, reported to the Quai d'Orsay and,

well, as you know, . . . Switzerland did not go into the war."

THE IMPORTANCE

OF REAL ESTATE

MORTGAGE

THRIFTY

MEN

Just what is the economic importance of real estate mortgage bonds?

Answered by

BENJAMIN BILLS

Director of Sales, American Bond and Mortgage Company.

City building is surely sufficient economic justification for real estate mortgage bonds. The providing of homes and fireplaces, of great places for recreational assembly, of hotel and inn facilities is surely meeting a basic need.

Man building is likewise an economic justification for the offering of real estate mortgage bonds. It is well known that about the first investment a man makes, who has learned to save, is in real estate bonds.

His same instinct of thrift is still more energetically engaged in the real estate bond's higher rate of return.

His intelligence is broadened as to values and revenues. The service he renders by his savings is concretely demonstrated to him.

The up-building of our cities and the development of our savers into investors afford ample evidence of the economic importance of real estate mortgage bonds.

ELKS TO PAY FOR 20 GIRLS

Provide Transportation For Camp Fire Outing

The Elks club today agreed to bear the transportation expense of 20 Camp Fire girls to the summer camp near Orange, which mounted higher than expected because the trip by automobile had to be abandoned. This was the first donation received by Mrs. R. J. Rutan, president of the Camp Fire Girls' Association, this morning in response to an appeal made yesterday in The News for funds for the Camp Fire girls' summer camp.

The Port Arthur Camp Fire girls were all prepared to attend the summer camp at Cow Creek, 44 miles north of Orange, but word came to Port Arthur guardians yesterday that the roads were almost impassable and the trip by automobile could only be made under great difficulty. Due to this the girls will be forced to make the trip on the train, thereby incurring greater expense. Many of the girls will only be able to pay the camp fee of $5 without the added expense of train fare, according to Mrs. Rutan, who said the round trip fare will amount to $3.40.

All girls who attend summer camp must receive a physician's certificate of examination. Mrs. Rutan said.

Three physicians, Doctors R. L. Douthett, C. W. Fulkright and R. H. Davison, have offered their services in examining the girls free of charge. The Camp Fire girls have been requested by Mrs. Rutan to be examined before the end of the week.

as they poured and cried out in loud voices. Others prostrated themselves in the altar space and with faces to the floor supplicated amid groans of self-abnegation.

The old man, his mouth working and the muscles of his face twitching, was crowded down among the supplicants, with the healer standing, arms outstretched over him. Rising to his feet he appeared to have dropped from him like a cloak. With a springy stride, his face aglow, he took his seat and uttered his thanks aloud. The woman followed, something on her face which had not been there before. Relief and hope, the pastor had said. Tears dripped from her eyes and she seemed exalted.

Rev. Sinclair then closed the service. Tonight, he said, he would hold another service. He repeated his invitation to the afflicted to attend, that with faith recovery might be theirs.

The little deaf and dumb girl will attend again tonight. She strives to talk through the chains that bind her voice and ears. She is recovering, Rev. Sinclair said, and she believes. In sign language she said, "I have faith and I believe. Oh, I want to talk and hear like other little girls! I am trying so hard."

Says Wife Reached For Knife, Is Fined Anyway

Judge A. W. Dycus in corporate court decided in a case tried this morning that a quick side-step in the procedure for the husband to take when his wife starts reaching down in her stocking for a knife.

A negro man was arrested charged with aggravated assault upon his wife.

The judge said his wife was reaching down in her stocking for a knife to use on him when he hit her to save himself.

The judge fined him $25 and costs, the minimum fine for this offense, stating that he could have gotten out of her reach rather than stooping to her with his fist.

Only one case was tried in the court this morning.

"Honestly, I Am Trying—"

"But most women don't like freckles," said the little star, "but that is a woman's secret!" But everyone will agree that Miss Anderson wears them charmingly and to the envy of many who have none.

She Loves Port Arthur

This afternoon the little star was shown through the refineries.

"What a huge industry!" she said. She insisted on being shown through each department in detail with reckless disregard for her expensive wardrobe.

"And the ships! I know now why they call Port Arthur America's fifth port," she said.

"I love Port Arthur," she exclaimed. "The men are so kind and polite courteous and the women are such dears. I usually am very lonely while on tour, seeing new faces but few friends, but here I feel, as though I had lived here for years. It must be what you call the Port Arthur spirit and that seems to be something worth while."

Miss Anderson gets the salary of a Wall Street banker—and she saves it. Some day she's going to have her own producing company. She could buy a brand new wardrobe every day and an automobile nearly every month, but she doesn't. She supports six little orphans, gives to the Red Cross, Salvation Army and charity but she doesn't admit it to a soul.

Her appearance in Port Arthur is in connection with her own picture. She will be here another day, when she goes to Galveston and thence to Beaumont.

Blacklock Files, But Doesn't Name Place

Which of three possible places Elgin H. Blacklock, who filed an eleven-hour application with the county democratic executive committee as a candidate for the legislature Tuesday, is seeking is a question which is bothering Secretary P. A. Dowlen of the committee.

Blacklock who is state adjutant of the Sons of Confederate Veterans is now in Memphis, Tenn., attending the annual Confederate reunion. "In filing for office he did not indicate whether he would make the move for place No. 1 or No. 2 in the Fifteenth district or as representative in the Sixteenth district which includes Orange.

Advice from Beaumont state the matter of allowing Blacklock's name on the ticket is entirely up to the county committee. Nothing can be done in the matter until Blacklock returns from Memphis, it is said.

ANKLES, KNEES, BRAINS WORRY

If You're Brainy Your Ankles
Are Thick

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—What the size of a woman's ankle to do with the size of her brain?

The question is "perturbing biologists and scientists of Philadelphia" following the decree of Paul Pairet, French fashion dictator, that "thin ankles mean weak knees and thin brains."

A poll of ten Philadelphia women, picked at random, revealed the fact that seven of them had thin ankles, nine of them strong knees and ten of them bright brains.

"This is all nonsense," declared one clubwoman. "If a woman has any sense she doesn't allow her ankles to become thick. It seems to me that this answers your question. Diet and the proper amount of exercise will keep women from slopping over at the ankles, and any sensible woman will see to it that she has the proper diet and exercise."

"M. Pairet is correct," said another. "The woman who gets out and does things, the woman who has the real sense, doesn't take time to see that her ankles are thin. It is only the flighty young woman who likes to show her ankles on a dance floor or on the street that gives thought to such things."

"Look at the girls at Bryn Mawr.
I doubt if you could find a more brainy or sensible lot of girls. Yet, generally speaking, Bryn Mawr is a big-ankle college, thick ankles, strong knees and bright brains."

One of Philadelphia's "students of psychology is inclined to take the view that there really is no connection between the size of the ankle and the depth of the brain of a woman."

"A woman's ankles and her brain are entirely separate organisms," he declared. "If the ankle grows it does not necessarily follow, as M.
Pairet seems to believe, that the brain will also grow. The brain and the ankle are certainly not twins."

"Do you think the growth of the ankle can be controlled by the brain?"
he was asked.

"Only to a certain extent," was the reply. "If a young woman is desirous of preserving associated ankles, and I'm not saying it isn't a good thing to do, then her brain, if she has one, will direct that she doesn't do too much walking and that she doesn't eat those things which she ought not to eat."

"FASHIONABLE FAKERS"

Johnny Walker promises to score a big hit in "Fashionable Fakers" at the Liberty theater tomorrow.

Walker, as the naive, trusting innocent Thaddeus, unaware that in "manufacturing" antique furniture he is doing anything dishonest, furnishes genuine amusement and wins further renown for this star of "Over the Hill" and several Emory Johnson melodramas, and in putting it over, Walker demonstrates his versatility as a featured player. It is entirely removed from his dashing cabaret-er, as pictured in "Captain Fly-by-Night," or the hard working mechanic in "The Fourth Musketeer."

There is nothing that quite "gets" an audience like the final triumph of a small-town hero, who is the object of derision during the first part of the play, who becomes more and more popular as the play progresses, only to emerge vindicated and victorious.

"Fashionable Fakers" is a typical small-town story treated in a novel way, and Walker's portrayal is quite unlike anything of the kind he has ever done.

"THE LOVE MASTER"

First National picture starring Strongheart, the wonder dog, and regarded by critics as being the best in which he ever appeared, will be the attraction at the Peoples theater for four days, beginning today. As an added attraction there appears in the cast Lady Julie, Strongheart's wife, and the Strongheart quipsters.

Lillian Rich, Harold Austin, John J. Richardson, Joseph Barret, Walter Perry and Hal Wilson are among the players in the large cast.

The production has created a sensation wherever it has been shown because of a daring scene which Mr.
Trimble has interjected in which the dog hero visualizes death and fights it away from his young master in a physical battle. No apparatus of any kind is used to visualize the "dread specter" for the audience, the effect of the scene depending entirely upon the dramatic ability of Strong-heart.

GARDEN AIRDROME

Tonight "Our New Master" will be presented for the last time, Commencing Thursday night, the Ferguson Brothers will offer a comedy drama of western life entitled "The Cowboy and the Thief." This is the first western play that the company has offered this season, and no doubt it will be a welcome change. It is in four acts and has plenty of comedy and thrilling situations. It has a plausible story and is said not to be of the half-raising "about them up" type of western play.

The ladies will be admitted free Thursday night, provided they are accompanied by one paid admission, or two ladies will be admitted with one ticket. Friday night there will be another big amateur concert, and quite a number of amateurs have entered. Among one of the big features is a distinct novelty, two professional musicians from sunny Mexico will challenge a genuine bull fight on the stage, the first bull fight ever presented in an American stage.

This will prove to be a real novelty.

Will Fort, Well-Known Promoter, Planning Big Sport Events

Actor-Ryan Scrap Here Monday Will Be A Tough Mill

Sensational Middleweights May Be Brought to Town Next Winter While Other Heavies Are in Line for Port Arthur

By BILL ARCHER The News Sport Editor

BIGGER and better matches than he has conducted before is the program outlined by Will Fort, well-known Jefferson county sports promoter, who has returned to this section following an absence of six weeks.

Speaking of the match Monday evening in Elks theater arena, between husky Bill Ryan and George V. Actor, which is being directed by Promoter Fort, the sportsman asserted that "I have some mighty good boys coming up, and the outlook for some toping matches than I have secured in the past some time in the office."

The probable return of Pinky Gardner, popular Schenectady, N. Y., wrestling ace, and men in the middleweight division who have names known "from coast to coast," was mentioned by Fort in the first information he has made public regarding his plans for the coming winter.

Fort is dickering, it is rumored, for an early opening of more at the Elks Texas Theater, although he has consistently refused to comment on the program since his return, merely remarking, "Just wait, don't rush me."

The match here Monday evening will return to the local arena and to his many admirers the clever Greek wrestler, Actor, after an absence from the Port Arthur ring extending over a period of two months or more. Actor has not been idle, however. Tales of the sports writer, in fact, narrated a series of incidents of the Little Rock, Arkansas City and Houston arenas, where the former Max Baer of the Pacific Coast worked his early career on the canvas.

Actor is in shape. In fact, he is the best condition since he returned to this section of the country last September to renew his acquaintances in Port Arthur and take up the job of Home Town prize ring man. He promises to defeat the title in his term with Bill Ryan, the New Yorker here Monday evening, and Actor has never failed to keep his word in that connection.

So fans are sitting on the edge of a warlike bout, another of those slugging, grunting and George Actor is so capable of delivering, when he takes his fling at Ryan next week.

Ryan comes to Port Arthur under probably the best reputation of any scrappier outside of Elkinsburg has in the local square. His record would be well with that of the light-heavyweight champion, and his ability as fans will see, according to Fort, "is the genuine stuff."

BUD TAYLOR TO BOX VILLA IN BROOKLYN

DALLAS YOUTH LEADS MARBLE PLAYING LADS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 4.—Thomas Wright of Springfield, Mass., and Carl McCallum of Dallas, Texas, led the field of marble players at the close of play here today with the only perfect score in the national tournament. Each carried the second series of matches with 1000. McCallum having won six games and Wright five games.

Port Arthur Aquatic Fans Go In For Aquaplaning

Now comes to sport of the world's greatest pleasure resorts to thrill Port Arthur.

It's aquaplaning. Ever done any of it?

Penn Sandefur, Noble Elliott and R. E. Pereto are it's quite the stuff. Funnies one of the biggest thrills a sportsman can conceive, according to the words they pass along, and if you've ever seen any of the Port City boys enjoying the water by riding behind a motor boat on an aquaplane, you'll probably agree fully.

Sandefur, Elliott and Pereto are planning a rowing afternoon Sunday when they start out from the end of the Pleasure Pier at 2:30 "tied on" to the rear of Rose Zeno's 140-horsepower, 8-cylinder Sturdivant airplane motorboat.

Zeno's boat chugs off a pace of about 40 miles an hour and the trio of aquatic stars are seeking the thrill of following his boat "just as fast as shell" so.

Crowds who wander out to Pleasure Pier Sunday will probably find the gang out there enjoying some real waves and a real thrill.

Westbrook in Trim Shape

Many Pick Him to Down Budwine Friday

With his hand completely recovered and his strength returned, Lawrence Westbrook plans to trim Owen Budwine in their finish match at Port Arthur Athletic club Friday evening in short order.

And it is the opinion of many local fans that Westbrook will do as he believes.

The victory of the former Oklahoma boy over Young Couch, who defeated Budwine decisively on two occasions here, is pointed out as the rule of dope through which channel Westbrook will down Budwine.

Budwine, however, has been continuing and is in A-1 shape for the mill, predicting that he will upset the dope and give Lawrence a big surprise when they get together Friday night.

Jim Reese to Lead First Texas U. Team in Stadium

AUSTIN, Texas, June 4.—Jim Reese of Comanche, who won the 800 and 1,500 meter races in the Olympic trials at New Orleans last week, and who is almost sure to be one of the representatives of the United States in the Olympics, will captain the first University of Texas track team to perform in the new stadium at the university.

Reese won recognition in 1924, when he ran in the Intercollegiate League meet, representing Comanche. He won the half mile run, and in doing so set a record of two minutes, four seconds, which stands at the present time as the League record.

Reese came to Texas in 1922, and while running on the first year track team bettered the times of members of the Longhorn squad. He cut his time down to two minutes flat in the Longhorns in the half mile and the relay. He set a Conference record in the half mile of 1 minute 53 seconds, and was a member of the relay team which set a Conference record in 1924.

In 1924 Reese was still better and lowered his Conference record again, this time to 1 minute 57 seconds. He has made the half mile in better time than that, but in the Conference meet here the big runner took first in both the mile and half mile, and ran a record lap in the relay which prevented him from giving all his energy to the half mile.

Reese's entry in the mile race, about the middle of the season, came as a surprise, and his performance came as a still greater surprise. In the first meet, in which he ran the mile, he clipped three seconds off the Conference time of 4 minutes, 23 seconds. Reese has never been defeated in a race in the Conference or in any dual meet. He is being backed by Texas to place high up in the finals in the Olympics.

More snails and frogs are eaten in Paris than in any other city in the world.

San Sovino Wins Historic Derby at Epsom With Big Odds

THOUSANDS COP
7 TO 1 WAGERS

His Majesty's Favorite
Horse Fails to Show

EPSON, Eng., June 4.—Lord Derby's San Sovino, the favorite, won the historic derby today from a large field of the best in England.

San Sovino had been made a tremendous popular choice and odds against the bay dropped from 7 to 1 to 5 to 2 as a flood of money was poured on Lord Derby's horse.

St. Germain was quoted at 100 to 7, while Hurstwood's starting price was 20 to 1.

It seemed as though nearly every one had bet upon San Sovino as the favorite came cantering down the finish six lengths ahead of the second. The cheering was tumultuous as the favorite's rivals proved winners.

The race was run in a drizzle which dampened the course, but not the enthusiasm of nearly half a million race goers who crowded grand stands to see the 11st annual of the famous race for the derby stakes.

The victory of the favorite was greeted by thunderous cheers. San Sovino, ridden by Jockey Weston had been quoted at 7 to 1, choice of the field.

Hurstwood Ran Third

Lord Astor's St. Germain was second and Hurstwood was third. Hurstwood was owned by Somersetville, a descendant of the bookmaker for whom the famous betting odds is named.

San Sovino is a bay colt by Swinford Gondolite.

The favorite justified the confidence of his backers, winning a canterbury six lengths.

King George and the royal party witnessed the victory of the favorite. His Majesty's best horse, Knight of the Garter, had been scratched overnight and the royal hopes were pinned on Heston, ridden by the American Jockey Archibald.

Twenty-seven horses ran.

Nick went outside and tacked up all the wires.

"I want to buy one of those new things," said Ringtail Coon, cussing into Mister Coon's photograph album and Nick went outside and tacked up all the wires and queer wooden things to the tip top branches of the oak tree.

"What new things?" laughed Nancy. "Do you suppose we sell old things in this store, Mister Coon, now do you?"

Mister Coon looked kind of sheepish as he answered. "Oh, excuse me! I know that of course. But I mean one of those extra new things where you have to tuck sticks on your chin and have a lot of boards and wires sticking up into the air."

"Oh, you mean a radio set, don't you?" said Nick.

"Thy, yes," said Ringtail. "I guess that's it. There's a little wooden box full of tacks and knobs and screws and enough gimcracks to start a hardware store. And you set it on a table and turn something and it sings and talks and plays music and everything like that."

"Yes, that's a radio set you are talking about," said Mister Coon. "And you came at exactly the right time, for I have a fine one I just got in today. Here it is in the showcase. It costs two dollars."

"My, my! That's a lot of money," exclaimed Mister Coon. "That's about my only fortune. Couldn't you make it a little cheaper, Mister Storekeeper?"

"Well, I might let you have it for a dollar and ninety-nine cents," said Mister Coon thoughtfully.

"All right!" said Ringtail Coon. "I'll take it."

And then there was a busy time for everybody.

Nick and Nancy went home with the coon gentleman and up to the place he lived in Old Oak Apartments.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

By Uncle RAY

DINNER PARTIES IN OLD ENGLAND

Our picture was made in England more than a thousand years ago. It will give you an idea of an Anglo-Saxon dinner party.

What a queer picture! The table looks as if it were falling toward the floor. It was drawn that way because the artist didn't know any better.

The persons around the table are mainly women, but you can make out two or three men. One way you can tell them by their heads being uncovered.

Notice the cups held in air. Probably they are full of ale or beer, favorite drink of German tribes.

See how many things you can make out on the table. Among those I see are knives, a round plate, a square plate or platter, a large bowl and a dish.

Under the table you see the feet. They all seem alike, proving—again what a poor artist made the picture. You can learn, however, something about the kind of shoes then worn by looking at the feet.

The biggest dinner parties were given by kings and nobles. Much of the time, each part of England had a king of its own. Now and then there was a strong king who won power over most of the island. Such a king was Alfred.

King Alfred spent a great deal of his time fighting the Danes, rough-men from the north who often swooped down upon England. They gained some land and settled. Alfred did his best to drive them out and keep them out. No doubt you have heard the story of the cakes he let burn. He did that, his said while thinking of the Danes and the Danes.

YOUR WANTS—ALL OF THEM—HERE TODAY AND EVERY DAY

RAGWEED IS SNEEZE CAUSE

Goldenrod Absolved From Suspicion

GENEVA, June 4.—Bulgaria has just notified the League of Nations and the International Labor Bureau of her intention of mobilizing.

The League is to be called to the colors will not be mobilized in any hostile manner against any neighboring state, or even for military duty.

Instead, the mobilization, which will constitute Bulgaria's fourth annual call to the colors since she inaugurated the compulsory labor system instead of compulsory military service, will merely be for the purpose of obliging each male citizen of working age to perform a certain amount of duty for the state.

The annual mobilization this year, will be more extensive than the three preceding ones in that it will apply not only to all manual workers, but intellectual workers as well.

Since the peace treaties and Bulgaria's entrance into the League of Nations, both of which reduced her army to such a minimum basis that compulsory universal military service became not only impossible but useless, Bulgaria inaugurated the substitute system of compulsory labor service, the state assuming the right to call to the colors everyone who would voluntarily be called up for military duty, and having them put in a corresponding period of time working for the state.

This year, in addition to all the manual workers that have been called up in the past, the mobilization orders cover intellectual workers as well, including the staffs of government offices and public institutions; the Bulgarian Red Cross society, the national theater, the deaf and dumb institution, the state printing office, the state mines, the law courts, consulates and legations, the Holy Synod, and the central Jewish and Moslem organizations.

Rio De Janeiro To Increase Her Harbor

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 4.—Rio de Janeiro, which is considered by many cosmopolitans, the most beautiful harbor in the world, will increase her harbor facilities by 40 per cent, in accordance with the provisions of the presidential decree signed by Dr. Arthur Bernardes.

The Ministry of Public Works has been authorized to construct for the harbor a new pier, 1,500 meters long, to which will be added 1,500 meters of water frontage with modern port facilities.

Besides this improvement, a "free port" will be constructed on the Ilha do Governador (Governor's Island), one of the many islands in the bay of the Brazilian capital.

The program for this improvement was initiated by the Brazilian government in 1921, as the result of the findings in the effect that the existing port facilities were inadequate. The original plan for the construction of the existing 2,200 odd meters of quay wall was based on estimates which accredited the port of Rio with having an annual turnover of merchandise, imports and exports, amounting in 1,000,000 tons.

The movement of the last few years however, has averaged in excess of 2,500,000 tons per annum, the result of this precipitous trade expansion being that almost 40 per cent of the vessels that enter the port every year do not find any accommodations upon making port, which has caused delay in the loading and discharging of merchandise and has resulted in other expensive inconveniences.

Lava Bear, or Dwarf Grizzly, Is Captured

BEND, Ore., June 4.—The Lava Bear has been caught.

Alfred Andrews, for nine years a government trapper in the Silver Lake district, but recently relieved from duty, caught him and says he is merely a species of dwarf grizzly.

It is the first one known to have been caught alive. This bear, of a species long thought to have been extinct, in two years of life has only grown to the size of 15 inches high.

The question of the Lava bear and whether or not it existed was brought up on national prominence three years ago by Irwin S. Cobb, when Andrews took the famous writer on a trip in search of the strange animal. Now Andrews nine years' quest has been rewarded. He found the trail and set a trap. One day after the trap was set he found the animal alive with both hind feet caught in the trap.

He said the Smithsonian Institute has offered $2,000 for a live Lava bear, but Andrews declares he will not sell it. He is planning to tour the country with the animal, exhibiting him as a unique specimen.

IRITABLE AT HOME

NEW YORK, June 4.—College girls lose their tempers at home. Because at college they are treated as young women free to act in most things on their own judgment, they object to the restraint put upon them by their parents, a New York psychologist says. In college, the investigator declares, girls are pushed toward maturity, while at home the pressure is the other way.

DESTROY HAIR SEALS

PORT ANGELES, Wash., June 4.—Northwest fishermen are urging the annihilation of immense herds of hair seals for the protection of salmon in Puget Sound and along the Alaskan coast. The seals destroy whole schools of fish headed toward the spawning ground.

ONELLI, Neb., June 4.—Every word-peddler is a born musician! So says "Doc" Wilkinson of Onelli, who has organized a word-peddler quartet and is contemplating a tour of the eastern "chauntunous" circuits. His feathered musicians learn readily to play any new air or tune on four porous wooden tubes, he says.

TOKYO, June 4.—Thirty million any squirrel pelts from Siberian furs, are on their way to market via Japanese ports. New Tokyo furs and fur dealers will receive huge shipments of the pelts.

PACIFIC CARGOS DUE IN JULY

Bark S. G. Wilder Loads With Lumber

Two cargoes of shooks and canned goods from Pacific coast ports to Port Arthur and points throughout this section are booked for the steamship Ormide, expected to arrive about June 27, and the Point Lobos, due sometime in July, according to word today from Sydney G. Collins and company, agents.

Since the first of the year two other ships from Pacific coast ports operated by the Pacific Coastwise and Gulf line, sending the Ormide and Point Lobos here this month and next, have brought similar cargoes to Port Arthur in addition to one or two vessels in the Transmarine corporation's Port Newark and West coast service. It is recalled in shipping circles here.

After a lay-up of several months in Port Arthur, the bark S. G. Wilder is chartered for a voyage to the West Indies and started loading out a full cargo of lumber at the K. C. S. meat docks today. The vessel shifted over to the docks from Slip No. 2 Tuesday, and is lifting approximately half a million feet of lumber for delivery to the West Indies. The bark is owned by a shipping firm in Mobile, Alabama.

The cargo of fuel oil for the Eastern Texas Electric company arrived today on the tanker Gene Crawley and is being discharged at the electric company's terminal and storage station on West Lake Shore Drive. Since the docks and storage tank were completed, the electric company has been bringing in fuel oil at the rate of about one ship every 30 days.
